Communication Charges

We follow the guidance within the Information Commissioner’s Office document . @Fees that may be charged when the cost of compliance exceeds the appropriate limit’ <https://ico.org.uk/media/1635/fees> cost of compliance exceeds appropriate limit.pdf.

Public authorities can charge for the reasonable costs it expects to incur in:

- Contacting the applicant to inform them the requested information is held (even if the information will not be provided), and
- Communicating the information to the applicant.

This includes, but is not limited to , the cost of:

- Reproducing any document containing the information eg printing or photocopying

- Complying with Section 11 FOIA where the applicant has expressed a preference for the means of communication and where this is reasonably practicable.

A public authority can charge for the costs of physically reacting exempt information. This could include the costs of materials, (for example, tape or black ink) or the use of specialist equipment (for example, rental or licensing) for the specific activity of reaction.

Staff Time

A public authority can charge for the time taken by its staff on the activities included in communicating the information. Regulation 7 (5) indicates that staff time is to be charged at the flat rate of £25 per hour, irrespective of whether a higher rate is actually incurred by internal staff or charged by external contactor staff.

A public authority can also charge for the time it takes a member of staff to actually redact the exempt information. This cost can be included because it is part of the costs of communicating the information under regulation 7. Regulation 7(5) of the Fees Regulations confirms that a public authority can only charge £25 per hour for this activity. For example if it takes one employee 45 minutes to black out the information which is not to be disclosed then the public authority can charge £18.75 for this activity. For the avoidance of doubt, any staff time spent redacting exempt information cannot be taken into account when initially estimating whether it would exceed the appropriate limit to comply with the request.
